“ Robin & Chap, I know we are never prepared. Just know Andy is not suffering anymore. He was a fighter but until we find a cause and a cure it's a losing battle. I pray daily that I live long enough to see a cure. No one knows until they have walked in our shoes. To watch your loved one slowly lose the use of their body, voice, feeding, and finally breathing, but their mind is good, sometimes I think it even got better. Prayers for you both.
