“ Meme when I was born you were there with mom. You have always been there. You wanted me to call you Granny, but all I could say was Meme. So I guess you settled for that, because everyone calls you that. I am glad I couldn't say Granny. Granny is for an old lady and you were not old then. I remember coming to your house in the summer and stay for a week with you. I remembered the house in Caldwell. I remember the garden in the backyard and all of the goats and rabbits and pawpaw building the fence around your property. I remember when you moved to the apartment complex. You had goats and rabbits there to. I remember watching you skin the rabbits. I also remember how much you loved peanut butter. You use to make peanut butter treats out of corn flakes. I remember you knew how much I loved angel food cake and you always made one for me when I came to your house. I remembered when you moved to the motel. I thought that was cool. I remember when we had 4th of July there onetime and had barbeque rabbit. All of the family was there. I mean everyone. When I thought I was too old to come and see, I joined the Navy. I would call and check on you while I was away. You and pawpaw accepted Gerald into a family know questions asked. He always felt comfortable around you. Then I gave you your first great-grandchild Kelcye. Then I processed the give you your next 2 great-grandchildren, Megan and Devin. You made blankets for Kelcye and Megan's dolls. They still have those today at 21 and 20 years old. They all three loved their great Meme. We were not finished yet. Your 2nd great-granddaughter gave you your first great great-grandchild on 1/9/2010. Her name is Rena. She visited you when you were in the hospital when she was just 2 weeks old. She will be told about you. There are many other memories. Meme I love you. You are in a better place now and you are not sick anymore. Say hello to my other grandmother.
