“ Christy and I grew up together til our teens. Mostly we climbed the big tree in her front yard. We became blood sisters under that tree. We lost contact in our teen years. I had several dreams about Christy and when we finally reconnected I found out that those dreams were true. I guess God was keeping us in touch. After we re-connected we didn't have much time together. Christy was one of the best friends ever. She was sweet and kind and I loved her. Z
